"PARSON" HALE TO SPEAK HERE

MAN WHO MADE MARYVILLE 'DRY' TO DELIVER ADDRESS JULY 10

AT[illegible] CLUB BANQUET

Affair to Be [illegible]rest of "Men and the Bible [illegible]—To Make Public Addres[illegible] July 11.

The Men's Club of the First Baptist church will hold their first banquet of the year Thursday, July 10. Rev. L. M. Hale has been asked to be the chief speaker. Mr. Hale is now pastor of Delmar Baptist church of St. Louis. It will be many years before he is forgotten in Maryville. Besides the phenomenal work done in his own church he was very active in all civic affairs. To him, probably more than to any other single agency, belongs the credit of Maryville going dry in the local option election several years ago when the city hall had their 'phone number changed to 702, the majority by which local option carried. "Parson" Hale was not only a preacher but a fighter for righteousness in civic life.

When the United States declared war he went as a Y. M. C. A. secretary immediately and made a wonderful record among the boys. While in France his church built a $150,000 church building which was recently dedicated.

An arrangement has been made for Mr. Hale to make a public address on Friday, the eleventh of July.

The banquet given July 10 will be especially in the interest of the "Men and the Bible School." This is part of the plan arranged two months ago for the increase of the attendance and efficiency of the Baptist Sunday school. Beginning with Children's Week, under the supervision of Mrs. L. E. White, Miss Eva Davis, and Mrs. J. D. England the attendance of the Primary and Junior Departments were increased largely till these departments were taxed to capacity, new classes and teachers being added.

The Intermediate Department reorganized, under the superintendency of J. R. Lowry has had a splendid growth and the end is not in sight.

There is no reason why every church in town should not enroll hundreds of men in their Men's classes. The Organized Bible class of the First Baptist church has always been large. For the past two months, without any particular effort it has grown steadily. The Men's Club is behind a movement ata this tome to secure 200 members with a large average attendance. This class several years ago built and fitted up a large room in connection with the church. The wisdom of this was seen by the large class that has been secured. It is hoped that 200 men will be secured immediately. In this Bible Class the Bible is taught in a way that appeals to young men. Besides this class hour civic and benevolent objects of all kinds are being fostered.

The committee for the arrangement of the banquet and the details for the further campaign will meet again on Thursday night of this week at the church.

D. T. Foster of Eldon, Ia., is spending a few weeks at the home of his daughter, Mrs. W. O. Garrett.

Had Enough Germa[illegible]

A true tale of adventure and romance which carried him from "kulture" and militarism of the German army to the true democracy of the American Marines is told by a man who now claims Maryville as his home—the personage being no other than Alfred P. Gsell, director of the band of this city.

Gsell was induced into the German army Nov. 11, 1907, and soon after entering the service of the Huns became involved in an argument with one of the officers which resulted in his being sent at once to South Africa where an insurrection was then in progress between the natives and the German rulers. He fought in the Battle of the White Mountain, and upon his arm carries an ugly scar caused by a bayonet thrust. "Life was a veritable hell in the German army" said Gsell, "and we were treated worse than dogs. A private in the German army gets all the kicks and knocks and is never given the least bit of sympathy or credit."

At the close of the South African trouble, Gsell's term was completed in the German army and when the first opportunity presented itself he "shipped" aboard a merchant vessel and for over a year was a sailor, visiting practically every country on the eastern hemisphere. Tiring of the life of the sea, he next obtained passage on an American bound ship and same to the land of "freedom and democracy."

But the life of adventure and travel still had its charms, and soon after arriving at New York, Gsell enlisted in the United States army. "The American army was a paradise compared to the German army," said Gsell, "the Americans believe in treating a man like a man, not like a slave." After completing his four year enlistment period in the army, he obtained his discharge on March 11, 1916, and for a couple of years led the life of peaceful civilian, devoting most of his time to his musical study and playing.

About this time, however, the war clouds began to come up over in Europe and at length the United States entered the great world war. It was a peculiar problem which presented itself before Gsell. America—the land of his adoption and for which he had come to have an insepa[illegible]a, was about to fight his ho[illegible]e country where he had been born and raised, and for which he had once fought.

But then there loomed before him the gross injustices and abuse which he had suffered while a private in the German ranks. He remembered clearly the heartless discipline and the cruel blows of the haughty boche leaders and the spirit of revenge won out. "First to Fight" was the sign of the Marines, and chacteristic of his doughty adventurous nature, it was this branch of the great American military force in which Gsell enlisted. Owing to his ability as a musician Gsell was retained on this side to act as a leader of the Marine band, and although he did not go overseas to fight his former associates, he was ready and anxious to do so at any time.

While in the Marines, Gsell made an enviable record as a musician, and was the organizer of the famous Eighth Regiment Marine band. Moving pictures have been taken of this organization, and an attempt is being made to bring them here for a showing at one of the local theatres.

Although Gsell's life has been one of thrills and adventures his music has always been his predominant thought. He was born at Luetwigs-on-the Rhine in the picturesque country which has been the home of some of the world's greatest musicians and composers. On May 1, 1900 he entered the Conservatory of Music at that place, and under the direction of Maximilian Schwedler, studied flute and harmony. Other famous musicians under which he studied at this place were Prof. Klingel, Hans Sitt, Arthur Hickish, and Hans Von Buelow. He entered the Cologne conservatory in 1904 and studied orchestration, counterpoint and fugue under Englebert Humperdink. Completing his course there he became a member of the Royal Russian Orchestra and for several years played for the entertainment of former Czar Nicholas of Russia.

After leaving the Royal orchestra, he played several seasons at the Opera Comique in Paris.

ALL ABOARD FOR HARVEST FIELD

FARMERS EXPERIENCING DIFFICULTY IN GETTING HANDS

BUSINESS MEN TO HELP

Many Residents of Maryville Signify Intentions of Aiding in the Harvest Work—Urge Harvesters to Work Here.

With the harvest on in full swing in Nodaway county and with the farmers experiencing one of the most serious labor shortages ever known here, many business men of Maryville are preparing to aid in the work of gathering the great world's food supply by actual labor in the fields.

The Commercial Club, which is acting as a government employment agency for the relief of the labor situation here, was rushed today with calls from farmers asking for help but the harvest hand supply has apparently relegated itself to other parts and only a small percentage of the places were filled.

Athough Nodaway county is not really a part of the "wheat belt" as it is popularly known throughtout the country, a great amount of grain is raised here, and the farmers are offering a rate which is on a par with that of western Kansas. The standard for harvest hands in this country is from 45 to 50 cents an hour for a ten hour day.

The merchants and business men of Maryville realize the importance of getting the crop cut at this particular time, and maany have made an offer to devote several days of the week to this work.

Wheat bundles have a mean way with soft white hands but harvesting is work that must be done.

MISS LONGAN IN INITIAL RECITAL

AT CHRISTIAN CHURCH MUSICAL PROGRAM LAST NIGHT

DRAMATIC NUMBERS FINE

Mrs. Robinson Sang Two Beautiful Selections—Miss Peck in Solo Dance.

The musical program given by the Ladies Aid Society of the First Christian church at the Empire theater last night was well attended and the splendid program of music and drama was thoroughly enjoyed by all present.

After the orchestra selection, Miss Longan, concert pianist, played: Sonata, Andante; Scherzo (Beethoven) and a Turkish March (Beethoven-Rubenstein). Last night was Miss Longan's first appearance before the public as a concert pianist, a great honor having been paid Maryville in that it was chosen as the town in which to make her debut. Unquestionably the music lovers of this city received Miss Longan's initial recital with unstinted cordiality and appreciation, upholding our reputation for hospitality and appreciation of an artist's efforts.

"As Seen by His Bride," a one-act comedy came next on the program and provoked the audience to mirth at numerous times. The plot hinged upon the natural suspicion of a young bride that some other women was trying to win her husband's affections and the continual cropping out of her feelings of jealousy in the matter.

Miss Longan followed with two selections: Nocturne (Chopin), and Etude (Chopin). The orchestra then played another selection and Miss Peck gave a solo dance that pleased the large audience.

Mrs. Robinson sang two beautiful solos: "In the Time of Roses," Reichardе, and "The Americans Come," (Fay Foster). As in all her public appearances Mrs. Robinson was given a hearty ovation.

Next came a comedy that brought the house down several times, entitled "The Ladies Speak at Last," a burlesque in which the famous characters of Shakespeare's dramas rise up from the dead and mock their creator in a most amusing fashion.

Miss Longan then closed her part of the program with two numbers: Soires de Vienne, (Schubert-Liszt) and La Chasse, (Paganini-Liszt). Miss Longan was encored again and again throughout her recital and was the recipient of a beautiful bouquet of flowers during the evening.

The last dramatic production of the evening came next entitled "Joint Owners in Spain." This was, also, a comedy depicting the troubles in an Old Ladies Home which brought forth many laughs. In fact, all the dramatic productions were first class and emphasized the versatility of the players who played young girls parts in one play, the famous characters of Shakespeare's women in another, and old ladies in another.

The evening's entertainment was closed by an orchestral selection.

Miss Thrall has known of the Existence of rich placer beds on the Siberian river for a long time. The men interested organized the Northern Mining and Trading Company.

Captain C. L. Oliver, a former navy officer, is in command of the Casco.

"DISABILITY BILL" DEAD.

Boston, July 1.—"Disability Bill" is dead. Eluding the examination of a score of army doctors in order to fight in France, Lieutenant William L. Drohan, former newspaper man and court clerk, won the title of "Disability Bill." A shock suffered in a cemetery here on Memorial Day caused his death. Drohan's army career was remarkable.

As a member of the "Old Ninth Regiment" Drohan went to the Mexican border with that unit. When the call came for overseas Drohan tried to enlist with his old regiment. He was turned down by the army doctors. Time and time again he attempted to join his comrades and each time he failed. Then suddenly, nobody knew how, he found himself a member of the One Hundred and First Infantry.

He went overseas without being examined by army doctors. He fought with his comrades at the front. Then suddenly he was ordered home. An army physician had discovered his condition. He was taken back to the base hospital. A few days later he was found fighting at a different front. Time and time again he was ordered home and time and time again he returned to his company. At last doctors ordered that he be placed aboard a transport and sent home. This was done and Drohan arrived in South Boston none the worses physically for his experiences, but made clean through.

He was eager to get back with his comrades. So eager was he that the day the armistice with Germany was signed he was aboard a transport at New York waiting to sail as a Red Cross secretary.

ONLY HALF A MAN, BUT HE DOES HIS WORK WELL.

Winchester, Kan., July 1.—People here are wondering what the City Marshal. M. A. Guynn, could do if he were whole and not suffering from paralysis. Mr. Guynn, who has a palsied arm and has lost one leg, in addition to being city marshal, is street commissioner, city clerk and township clerk. He performs all of his duties well, and has little difficulty in looking after them as wel as any one. So far no gitive has escaped from his clutches after being arrested.

Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Littler left this morning for Colorado Springs, Colo., where they will visit relatives for the rest of the summer. They will also visit other points of interest in the state.

Mr. and Mrs. Roscoe Tilson and daughter left today for a three weeks' visit in Stanberry and Maryville, Mo., and Norcatur, Kan.—St. Joseph News-Press.

South to the Front in Road Building.

Recent reports received by the United States Department of Agriculture on Federal aid road projects show the South moving forward in the road building campaign, with projects showing higher grade construction. Of the 16 Georgia projects approved for April two were for bridges, 7 for concrete and 1 for either a brick, concrete, or bituminous road, the others being for sand-clay roads. The concrete roads will cost from $30,000 to $32,000 a mile, indicating the highest type construction, for the cost in the South is usually less than that in the North. Louisiana will build a short bituminous macadam road at an estimated cost of $36,377 a mile. Virginia has one bituminous macadam and three concrete roads in nine projects approved.

"PARSON" HALE TO SPEAK HERE

MAN WHO MADE MARYVILLE 'DRY' TO DELIVER ADDRESS JULY 10

A[illegible] CLUB BANQUET

Affair to Be [illegible]rest of "Men and the Bible [illegible]—To Make Public Addres. July 11.

State Historical Society
COLUMBIA

The Men's Club of the First Baptist church will hold their first banquet of the year Thursday, July 10. Rev. L. M. Hale has been asked to be the chief speaker. Mr. Hale is now pastor of Delmar Baptist church of St. Louis. It will be many years before he is forgotten in Maryville. Besides the phenomenal work done in his own church he was very active in all civic affairs. To him, probably more than to any other single agency, belongs the credit of Maryville going dry in the local option election several years ago when the city hall had their 'phone number changed to 702, the majority by which local option carried. "Parson" Hale was not only a preacher but a fighter for righteousness in civic life.

When the United States declared war he went as a Y. M. C. A. secretary immediately and made a wonderful record among the boys. While in France his church built a $150,000 church building which was recently dedicated.

An arrangement has been made for Mr. Hale to make a public address on Friday, the eleventh of July.

The banquet given July 10 will be especially in the interest of the "Men and the Bible School." This is part of the plan arranged two months ago for the increase of the attendance and efficiency of the Baptist Sunday school. Beginning with Children's Week, under the supervision of Mrs. L. E. White, Miss Eva Davis, and Mrs. J. D. England the attendance of the Primary and Junior Departments were increased largely till these departments were taxed to capacity, new classes and teachers being added.

The Intermediate Department reorganized, under the superintendency of J. R. Lowry has had a splendid growth and the end is not in sight.

There is no reason why every church in town should not enroll hundreds of men in their Men's classes. The Organized Bible class of the First Baptist church has always been large. For the past two months, without any particular effort it has grown steadily. The Men's Club is behind a movement ata this tome to secure 200 members with a large average attendance. This class several years ago built and fitted up a large room in connection with the church. The wisdom of this was seen by the large class that has been secured. It is hoped that 200 men will be secured immediately. In this Bible Class the Bible is taught in a way that appeals to young men. Besides this class hour civic and benevolent objects of all kinds are being fostered.

The committee for the arrangement of the banquet and the details for the further campaign will meet again on Thursday night of this week at the church.

A true tale of adventure and romance which carried him from "kulture" and militarism of the German army to the true democracy of the American Marines is told by a man who now claims Maryville as his home—the personage being no other than Alfred P. Gsell, director of the band of this city.

Gsell was induced into the German army Nov. 11, 1907, and soon after entering the service of the Huns became involved in an argument with one of the officers which resulted in his being sent at once to South Africa where an insurrection was then in progress between the natives and the German rulers. He fought in the Battle of the White Mountain, and upon his arm carries an ugly scar caused by a bayonet thrust. "Life was a veritable hell in the German army" said Gsell, "and we were treated worse than dogs. A private in the German army gets all the kicks and knocks and is never given the least bit of sympathy or credit."

At the close of the South African trouble, Gsell's term was completed in the German army and when the first opportunity presented itself he "shipped" aboard a merchant vessel and for over a year was a sailor, visiting practically every country on the eastern hemisphere. Tiring of the life of the sea, he next obtained passage on an American bound ship and same to the land of "freedom and democracy."

But the life of adventure and travel still had its charms, and soon after arriving at New York, Gsell enlisted in the United States army. "The American army was a paradise compared to the German army," said Gsell, "the Americans believe in treating a man like a man, not like a slave." After completing his four year enlistment period in the army, he obtained his discharge on March 11, 1916, and for a couple of years led the life of peaceful civilian, devoting most of his time to his musical study and playing.

About this time, however, the war clouds began to come up over in Europe and at length the United States entered the great world war. It was a peculiar problem which presented itself before Gsell. America—the land of his adoption and for which he had come to have an insepa[illegible]a, was about to fight his ho[illegible]e country where he had been born and raised, and for which he had once fought.

But then there loomed before him the gross injustices and abuse which he had suffered while a private in the German ranks. He remembered clearly the heartless discipline and the cruel blows of the haughty boche leaders and the spirit of revenge won out. "First to Fight" was the sign of the Marines, and chacteristic of his doughty adventurous nature, it was this branch of the great American military force in which Gsell enlisted. Owing to his ability as a musician Gsell was retained on this side to act as a leader of the Marine band, and although he did not go overseas to fight his former associates, he was ready and anxious to do so at any time.

While in the Marines, Gsell made an enviable record as a musician, and was the organizer of the famous Eighth Regiment Marine band. Moving pictures have been taken of this organization, and an attempt is being made to bring them here for a showing at one of the local theatres.

Although Gsell's life has been one of thrills and adventures his music has always been his predominant thought. He was born at Luetwigs-on-the-Rhine in the picturesque country which has been the home of some of the world's greatest musicians and composers. On May 1, 1900 he entered the Conservatory of Music at that place, and under the direction of Maximilian Schwedler, studied flute and harmony. Other famous musicians under which he studied at this place were Prof. Klingel, Haus Sitt, Arthur Hickish, and Hans Von Buelow. He entered the Cologne conservatory in 1904 and studied orchestration, counterpoint and fugue under Englebert Humperdink. Completing his course there he became a member of the Royal Russian Orchestra and for several years played for the entertainment of former Czar Nicholas of Russia.

ALL ABOARD FOR HARVEST FIELD

BUSINESS MEN TO HELP

Many Residents of Maryville Signify Intentions of Aiding in the Harvest Work—Urge Harvesters to Work Here.

With the harvest on in full swing in Nodaway county and with the farmers experiencing one of the most serious labor shortages ever known here, many business men of Maryville are preparing to aid in the work of gathering the great world's food supply by actual labor in the fields.

The Commercial Club, which is acting as a government employment agency for the relief of the labor situation here, was rushed today with calls from farmers asking for help but the harvest hand supply has apparently relegated itself to other parts and only a small percentage of the places were filled.

Athough Nodaway county is not really a part of the "wheat belt" as it is popularly known throughtout the country, a great amount of grain is raised here, and the farmers are offering a rate which is on a par with that of western Kansas. The standard for harvest hands in this country is from 45 to 50 cents an hour for a ten hour day.

The merchants and business men of Maryville realize the importance of getting the crop cut at this particular time, and maany have made an offer to devote several days of the week to this work.

Wheat bundles have a mean way with soft white hands but harvesting is work that must be done.

MISS LONGAN IN INITIAL RECITAL

AT CHRISTIAN CHURCH MUSICAL PROGRAM LAST NIGHT

DRAMATIC NUMBERS FINE

Mrs. Robinson Sang Two Beautiful Selections—Miss Peck in Solo Dance.

The musical program given by the Ladies Aid Society of the First Christian church at the Empire theater last night was well attended and the splendid program of music and drama was thoroughly enjoyed by all present.

After the orchestra selection, Miss Longan, concert pianist, played: Sonata, Andante; Scherzo (Beethoven) and a Turkish March (Beethoven-Rubenstein). Last night was Miss Longan's first appearance before the public as a concert pianist, a great honor having been paid Maryville in that it was chosen as the town in which to make her debut. Unquestionably the music lovers of this city received Miss Longan's initial recital with unstinted cordiality and appreciation, upholding our reputation for hospitality and appreciation of an artist's efforts.

"As Seen by His Bride," a one-act comedy came next on the program and provoked the audience to mirth at numerous times. The plot hinged upon the natural suspicion of a young bride that some other women was trying to win her husband's affections and the continual cropping out of her feelings of jealousy in the matter.

Miss Longan followed with two selections: Nocturne (Chopin), and Etude (Chopin). The orchestra then played another selection and Miss Peck gave a solo dance that pleased the large audience.

Mrs. Robinson sang two beautiful solos: "In the Time of Roses," Reicharde, and "The Americans Come," (Fay Foster). As in all her public appearances Mrs. Robinson was given a hearty ovation.

Next came a comedy that brought the house down several times, entitled "The Ladies Speak at Last," a burlesque in which the famous characters of Shakespeare's dramas rise up from the dead and mock their creator in a most amusing fashion.

Miss Longan then closed her part of the program with two numbers: Soires de Vienne, (Schubert-Liszt) and La Chasse, (Paganini-Liszt). Miss Longan was encored again and again throughout her recital and was the recipient of a beautiful bouquet of flowers during the evening.

The last dramatic production of the evening came next entitled "Joint Owners in Spain." This was, also, a comedy depicting the troubles in an Old Ladies Home which brought forth many laughs. In fact, all the dramatic productions were first class and emphasized the versatility of the players who played young girls parts in one play, the famous characters of Shakespeare's women in another, and old ladies in another.

The evening's entertainment was closed by an orchestral selection.

Hard work, lots of walking with an occasional fishing trip, is the formula he gave on his birthday recently for a long life. Rev. Vogel is the oldest active minister of the gospel in the United States, it is believed. He still preaches occasionally.

METHOD IN HIS MADNESS.

Butler, Mo., July 1.—Frank Vance, of this city, is the town's "Tom Sawyer." The other evening Frank had two lawn mowers out doing some repair work when along came Boone Brandon. The two got to discussing the merits of the respective machines, and to settle the argument, demonstrated the two machines. Boone cut more than half of Frank's lawn to demonstrate the machine he had was the best.

Frank, it is said, will try the same stunt again to get the other half cut.

"DISABILITY BILL" DEAD.

Boston, July 1.—"Disability Bill" is dead. Eluding the examination of a score of army doctors in order to fight in France, Lieutenant William L. Drohan, former newspaper man and court clerk, won the title of "Disability Bill." A shock suffered in a cemetery here on Memorial Day caused his death. Drohan's army career was remarkable.

As a member of the "Old Ninth Regiment" Drohan went to the Mexican border with that unit. When the call came for overseas Drohan tried to enlist with his old regiment. He was turned down by the army doctors. Time and time again he attempted to join his comrades and each time he failed. Then suddenly, nobody knew how, he found himself a member of the One Hundred and First Infantry.

He went overseas without being examined by army doctors. He fought with his comrades at the front. Then suddenly he was ordered home. An army physician had discovered his condition. He was taken back to the base hospital. A few days later he was found fighting at a different front. Time and time again he was ordered home and time and time again he returned to his company. At last doctors ordered that he be placed aboard a transport and sent home. This was done and Drohan arrived in South Boston none the worses physically for his experiences, but made clean through.

He was eager to get back with his comrades. So eager was he that the day the armistice with Germany was signed he was aboard a transport at New York waiting to sail as a Red Cross secretary.

ONLY HALF A MAN, BUT HE DOES HIS WORK WELL.

Winchester, Kan., July 1.—People here are wondering what the City Marshal, M. A. Guynn, could do if he were whole and not suffering from paralysis. Mr. Guynn, who has a palsied arm and has lost one leg, in addition to being city marshal, is street commissioner, city clerk and township clerk. He performs all of his duties well, and has little difficulty in looking after them as wel as any one. So far no gitive has escaped from his clutches after being arrested.

Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Littler left this morning for Colorado Springs, Colo., where they will visit relatives for the rest of the summer. They will also visit other points of interest in the state.

Mr. and Mrs. Roscoe Tilson and daughter left today for a three weeks' visit in Stanberry and Maryville, Mo., and Norcatur, Kan.—St. Joseph News-Press.

South to the Front in Road Building.

Recent reports received by the United States Department of Agriculture on Federal aid road projects show the South moving forward in the road building campaign, with projects showing higher grade construction. Of the 16 Georgia projects approved for April two were for bridges, 7 for concrete and 1 for either a brick, concrete, or bituminous road, the others being for sand-clay roads. The concrete roads will cost from $30,000 to $32,000 a mile, indicating the highest type construction, for the cost in the South is usually less than that in the North. Louisiana will build a short bituminous macadam road at an estimated cost of $36,377 a mile. Virginia has one bituminous macadam and three concrete roads in nine projects approved.
